Based on the current direction and impact of the Covid-19 pandemic, The Ark has made the difficult decision to cancel this year's Ann Arbor Folk Festival. Although the Folk Festival is The Ark's largest annual fundraising event and cancelling means losing a vital source of our annual operating revenue, our primary concern at this time is for the health and safety of patrons, artists, crew, staff, and the broader community. You can read more about our decision here.

If you have purchased tickets for the festival, look for an email from The Ark or from the Michigan Union Ticket Office with information on ticket refunds.
